During this very sad time I want to share my grief with you and to extend to you my sympathy. though the death of our fathers, whom we loved so dearly, means the end of an era, the end of things as we've always known them - we must remember that the wonderful love and strength, the pleasure and joy, the lessons and ideals that we have gained from them must live in us to be passed on to our children. my thoughts are very much with you

Dear Betsy,

It is very sad to think that your grand little father is gone - you & Mike will both miss him so much. But he died like he did everything - without bothering anyone - a wonderful way to go. Please tell Aunt Ida for me that I am thinking of her with sympathy - it must have been such a shock to her and I hope she is all right. I am enclosing a check for a memorial to your father. We always do this in place of sending flowers but I think it would be more fitting to send it to your hospital than to ours. However, if they don't have a Memorial Fund, send the check back & I will make it out to whom-ever you suggest. Get Mike to take care of this.

Our Pop here is better this morning although still pretty confused. He must stay in bed until Dr. Schwartz comes To see him Tomorrow.

Lots of love To you, Betsy dear, and may God give you strength To bear your sorrow. Devotedly, Ma—

Prominent in Republican politics, he was elected Judge of the Courts of Centre County in 1915. He campaigned with an old brown fedora hat crunched in his hands and it soon became a political landmark.

Judge Quigley was born in Beech Creek October 15, 1867. On April 17, 1895 he married Miss Augusta C. Merriman of Bradford, N.Y. Mrs. Quigley, who was born in Bradford, N. Y., January 15, 1870, died in Bellefonte, September 10, 1931.

Hugh Quigley's grandfather, Captain James A. Quigley, had a distinguished military record while serving with the 49th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry Regiment in the Civil War. He died at his home in Beech Creek, June 14, 1920. At the age of 20 he enlisted in the Union Army August 19, 1861. By 1862 he had risen to the rank of captain, Company D, 49th Pennsylvania. He took part in 23 engagements, including Antietam, Fredericksburg, and Gettysburg. He was wounded at Locust Grove and Spottsylvania. He helped found the Presbyterian Church at Beech Creek in 1871 and became one of its first elders, serving in that capacity 49 years. Later he became a merchant in Beech Creek and Blanchard.

Michael Quigley founded Beech Creek in 1812 and when that Borough was incorporated in February 1869 it was incorporated as "Quiggleyton," after the Quigley family.

Assessment records of the Beech Creek area, following the American Revolution, show a "Michael Quickley" settling in Bald Eagle Township.

New Mayor Named By Councilmen

Sinking Spring, March 5 — R. Lewis Wenrich, 110 Spring Crest Blvd., this borough, was named mayor of the borough by the Sinking Spring Borough Council last night after Earl R. Fox resigned.

Fox, whose term would have expired at the end of this year, left the post to become police chief in Fleetwood.

Wenrich resigned as a member of council to accept the mayor's post. He had been appointed to council in May 1962 to fill the unexpired term of Paul H. Groff, who moved from the borough. The new mayor also served as councilman from 1946 to 1953.

Vacancy Filled

Hugh M. Quigley of 94 Mull Ave. was appointed to replace Wenrich on council. Both Wenrich and Quigley were installed into their new posts with the oath being administered by Kenneth S. Harting, justice of the peace.

Councilman Paul P. Merkel Jr. introduced a resolution commending Fox for his untiring efforts as mayor, his careful supervision of the police department, his contribution to the golden anniversary celebration and his sincere interest for the residents and general welfare of the community.

In other business, Kenneth G. Hain, property committee chairman, was authorized to purchase shelving, tables and chairs to furnish the proposed reference library. The equipment will be purchased from Moyers Stationary at their bid of $833.95.

Hain was also authorized to increase insurance coverage on the library furnishings and the new addition at the borough garage.

Specifications

Luther I. Batzel, street committee chairman, instructed the borough engineer to work out specifications for reconstructing several streets not affected by sewer construction. County aid funds will be allocated for the proposed work.

The secretary-treasurer was authorized to pay bills totaling $5,100.99. The balance in the general fund was reported as $7,214.06.

Richard F. Miller, president, was in charge of the session.

The police report for February showed 60 radio calls answered, 25 complaints checked, 78 telephone calls handled and 3 house checks made.

Engineer Asked to Prepare Street Construction Costs

Sinking Spring, March 19 — Borough Council at its meeting last night authorized Richard I. Brady, borough engineer, to work out specifications and cost estimates for new construction of certain streets not affected by the construction of sanitary sewers. Brady was also instructed to complete a plan on Ashely Road to meet existing grades established and recorded in Milbeth Village.

Paul P. Merkel Jr., chairman of the water committee, informed council that fire hydrant locations on Ashely Road will be established as water mains are installed.

Kenneth G. Hain, chairman of the library committee, reported the Sinking Spring Lions Club inspected the renovations and improvements to the proposed library and assured the committee of a budget of $25,000 towards the purchase of books. Hain said "It is the hope of the committee that other civic organizations will contribute to the library fund."

Installation of shelving at the library and delivery of tables and chairs is expected early next month.

Council discussed at length the general dissatisfaction with street repairing and sidewalk reconstruction being done by contractors for the sewer project. Communications were directed to the General Authority engineers, Gilbert Associates, and contractors, informing them of council's intent to make certain all specifications are complied with.

Hugh Quigley, recently appointed councilman, announced the law committee met with the borough police and auxiliary police and R. Lewis Wenrich, mayor. They asked for the department's full cooperation. Wenrich in his new position asked for council's cooperation and said his department will strive for the best public relations possible.

Borough Officials Named in Suit

Protests Refusal Of Driveway Permit

Mandaums proceedings were filed in the Berks County Court by Edward H. Harpel against the borough officials of Sinking Spring to obtain a permit for the construction of a driveway for Crest Walk from Spring Crest Boulevard.

R. Lewis Wenrich, mayor; Kenneth Hain, Peter Merkel Jr., Irvin Bortz, Elmer Longenecker, Hugh Quigley, Luther Batzel and Richard Miller, councilmen, and Charles Fahrnebach, building inspector, are the defendants.

Harpel states he owns the property on the north side of Penn avenue in the borough in the Spring Crest area. The borough opened and graded Spring Crest Boulevard including the area known as Crest Walk which is 20 feet wide.

Harpel says he applied for a permit to construct a driveway entrance from Spring Crest Boulevard to Crest Walk which was refused. He says there is no zoning ordinance prohibiting a driveway.

He claims that without a driveway the value of his property would be deprived of increased value since without a driveway the land is unsuitable for residential development. Attys. David Sharman Jr. and Baskin & Mendelsohn represent the plaintiff.

MISS REYNOLDS IS WED TODAY

Becomes Bride of Hugh Quigley of Bellefonte, in St. James Episcopal Church.

A pretty wedding was solemnized this afternon in St. James' Episcopal church, at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Elinora Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Reynolds, of this city, became the bride of Hugh Quigley, son of Judge Henry C. Quigley, and Mrs. Quigley of Bellefonte. It was a brilliant event.

The impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church was performed by Rev. Dr. C. G. Twombly rector of the church. The wedding marches were played by George Rodgers, organist. During the ceremony the choir of the church sang softly.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Miss Henrietta Quigley, of Bellefonte, as maid of honor; Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds Jr., of Bellefonte, as matron of honor; the Misses Charlotte Appel, Susan Appel, Nellie Appel, Kitty Lutz, Jane and Margaret Hopkins, as bridesmaids.

W. Fred Reynolds Jr. attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Samuel H. Reynolds Jr., brother of the bride; Philip D. Reynolds, Charles M. Scott and Ellis Keller, Bellefonte; Stewart Coryell, Williamsport Jack W. Codding, Jr., Bethlehem and James Q Horne, Lock Haven.

The bride's gown was a handsome one of white satin brocaded in silver, with a chiffon overdress. It was made in tiers, each ruffle edged with pearls. It was trimmed with old lace which is an heirloom of the family. Her veil was also an heirloom. She also wore an old lace collar belonging to her ancestors. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid and matron of honor were gowned in tangerine chiffon. The bridesmaids wore gowns of blue in three shades. The effect of the entire color scheme of the bridal party was unusually lovely. Their flowers were Delphinium and small orange colored roses.

Mrs. Samuel H. Reynolds, mother of the bride, was charmingly gowned in pale green and silver lace. She wore a large black hat and corsage of roses.

A reception attended by three hundred guests was held in the Iris Club. The decorations in church and Iris Club were in a color scheme of green and white, featuring quantities of large white peonies.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Quigley will reside in Bellefonte. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Waterman and Mrs. C. Eugene Montgomery, of Providence; aunts of the bride; Judge and Mrs. Henry C. Quigley, Bellefonte, parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds Jr., Bellefonte, Edwin Quigley, Lock Haven Misses Mary and Helen Quigley, Lock Haven, John Griffin, Lock Haven, Miss Margaret Coryell, Williamsport.

Ira Bowman's orchestra played during the reception. The bride was graduated from Cathedral College, Washington and has since studied painting in New York.

Teachers Ending 42-Year Careers

Mrs. Ethel C. Hoffman and Mrs. Genevieve R. Kessinger, Bellefonte school teachers whose careers have paralleled each other since their high school days, have made one more move together.

They have retired from their teaching positions after serving for 42 years each.

Serving a total of 84 years together is significant enough, but other factors have a tendency to make their careers somewhat incredible.

They attended high school together, were graduated from college at the same time, began teaching in the same community on the same day and retired at the same time.

The former Genevieve Ricker of Salona and Ethel Crider of Dunnstown first met when they attended Lock Haven High School from which they were graduated in 1921.

They went to Central State Normal, now Lock Haven State College, together and were graduated in 1923. That fall, they began teaching in Bellefonte and both were assigned to the Bishop Street School.

Mrs. Hoffman taught at Bishop Street for two years, spent 34 years in the former Dale Building and was at Spring Street for six years. She never taught anything but first grade.

Mrs. Kessinger replaced Miss Alice Dorworth at Bishop Street and was later transferred to the former high school on N. Allegheny St. She taught there when the building was burned in 1939 and, after the fire, went back to Bishop Street. From there she went to the new building which replaced the one destroyed by two teachers taught well over 3,000 pupils. The numbers in their classes was seldom below 35 and during some years went over 50.

What happens to someone who teaches for 42 years?

They learn a great deal. They learn just about everything there is to know about children and much more that they probably should not know about their families.

The two women laugh when they think of how parents would react if they knew some of the things they learned about them from their children. Children in the age groups they taught have few secrets, they learned.

Mrs. Hoffman's husband is Walter L. Hoffman, who recently retired as manager of the Bellefonte Weis Market. Mr. Kessinger is Faxon Kessinger, owner of Kessinger's Auto Supply.

The women say they will go on being wives and housekeepers and part of the community as they were during their teaching careers. Both plan to do some traveling.

Mrs. Kessinger and Mrs. Hoffman say the most important thing they learned was to appreciate how important it is to teach and guide children through their early years. Asked what they valued most in their pupils they both agreed:

"It is wonderful to have boys and girls who get along well with their studies and behave themselves, but best of all is to have pupils with a loving heart."

Mrs. Kessinger taught fourth through ninth grades but spent more of her time in the elementary field. She was teaching fourth grade when she retired.

Mrs. Hoffman's husband is Walter L. Hoffman, who recently retired as manager of the Bellefonte Weis Market. Mr. Kessinger is Faxon Kessinger, owner of Kessinger's Auto Supply.

The women say they will go on being wives and housekeepers and part of the community as they were during their teaching careers. Both plan to do some traveling.

Mrs. Kessinger and Mrs. Hoffman say the most important thing they learned was to appreciate how important it is to teach and guide children through their early years. Asked what they valued most in their pupils they both agreed:

"It is wonderful to have boys and girls who get along well with their studies and behave themselves, but best of all is to have pupils with a loving heart."

Richard S. Quigley, 81, Dies of Heart Attack

RICHARD S. QUIGLEY — A heart attack at his home yesterday proved fatal to Richard Shaw Quigley, Sr., 81, who had served Pennsylvania both as an Assemblyman and State Senator from 1919 through 1933.

Served in Both Houses of Legislature

The Hon. Richard S. Quigley, who had represented Clinton County in both houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature, died of a heart attack yesterday at 12.45 p. m., sitting in his chair at his home at Orchard Hill.

Mr. Quigley, who was 81 years of age, had seemed to be in his usual health in the forenoon, moving about the house and chatting with members of the family. Sunday, he attended Mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Lock Haven.

Son of a Civil War captain, James A. and Mary Shaw Quigley, Richard Shaw Quigley, Sr., was born at Blanchard on Dec. 25, 1884, and had lived in this vicinity all his life.

He was a graduate of the Pennsylvania State University in the class of 1906 and a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Armstrong Quigley, two sons, Richard S. Quigley, Jr., of Orchard Hill; James A., Houston, Texas, and a daughter, Ida, of Philadelphia, wife of the artist, Franklin Watkins.

Mr. Quigley served two terms as Clinton County's representative in the House of Representatives of the General Assember of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Armstrong Quigley, two sons, Richard S. Quigley, Jr., of Orchard Hill; James A., Houston, Texas, and a daughter, Ida, of Philadelphia, wife of the artist, Franklin Watkins.

Mr. Quigley served two terms as Clinton County's representative in the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, where he was a member from 1919 through 1922. During that period, he introduced the bill which authorized the construction of the new bridge across the river at Jay St., replacing the old Lock Haven wooden covered bridge, which was destroyed by fire. The legislation was sponsored in the Senate by the Hon. Charles E. Donahue, then representing the district of which Clinton County was a part. The names of both local men appear on the plaque placed on the bridge at the time of its dedication.

After serving two terms in the House, Mr. Quigley, in 1923, succeeded Mr. Donahue in the Senate, and was reelected twice, terminating his legislative career at the end of 1933. He was spoken of, about that time, as a potential candidate for governor of the state.

He had been active in the councils of the Republican party before becoming a candidate for public office, and served as the county representative on the Republican State Committee for a number of years. He had an extensive political acquaintance over the state.

A member of the board of governors of the Clinton Country Club for many years, Mr. Quigley became president of the club some years ago. He resigned when his health began to deteriorate. A skillful golfer in his younger days, he was a familiar figure on the local golf course and at the clubhouse until very recently.

Death

He was always sports-minded. In his younger years, he was a fine baseball pitcher on the town team organized by him and his brother-in-law, Calvin R. Armstrong.

He was one of the citizens who played a leading role in the support of Lock Haven High School football in the 20's when Lock Haven had state championship teams and played Englewood High School of Chicago.

Mr. Quigley was interested in field sports and the Quigleys had a hunting lodge at Cross Fork for many years and also a place in Canada. They have a deer hunting cabin now near Haneyville.

Mr. Quigley's business interests included the Lock Haven Automobile Co., which was organized as one of the first automobile dealers in the area. Mr. Quigley was one of the early automobile owners in this locality and his enthusiasm for the new mode of transportation was a factor in the early movement here for improved streets and highways.

The Quigleys resided at 221 W. Church St. until they built their home at Orchard Hill, a name widely known through the Orchard Hill kennels maintained by Mrs. Quigley for the breeding of Pekingese. Mr. Quigley shared her interest in this avocation and was well-known among exhibitors in the leading dog shows in this country and England.

During World War I, Mr. Quigley helped to organize the Home Guard in which he served as one of the principal officers. This militia was established here after the local National Guard was mobilized for active duty in 1916 and 1917, and the 305th Ambulance Company was recruited in this area to serve overseas.

Mr. Quigley was a member of the Lock Haven Trust Co. board of directors and a vice president of the bank, a life member of the Elks Lodge in Lock Haven and a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church.

In addition to his wife and children he leaves four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Quigley had been married more than 60 years. Their Wedding took place on Dec. 2, 1905.

MEMORIAL WINDOW

Reverend Sir, we present to you this window to be set apart with thanksgiving for the service of Christ's holy Church.

PRIEST: All things come of thee, O Lord,
PEOPLE: And of thine own have we given thee.
PRIEST: Prosper thou the work of our hands upon us;
PEOPLE: O prosper thou our handiwork.
PRIEST: Show thy servants thy work.
PEOPLE: And their children thy glory.
PRIEST: Let us bless the Lord.
PEOPLE: It is meet and right so to do.

PRIEST: Thanksgiving and honor and glory be unto thee, Almighty God, that from ancient times thou hast put it into the hearts of men to make offerings for thy service, and hast been pleased at all times to receive them at their hands. Mercifully accept this window which we devoutly offer and set apart to thy glory and in memory of Hugh M. Quigley, and grant that this gift may be found worthy through thy blessing to magnify thy Name, to benefit the Church, and to minister grace and joy to those who rightfully use it; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with thee and the Holy Spirit, be all praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

With faith in Jesus Christ, we dedicate this wihdow to the glory of God and in memory of Hugh M. Quigley for the use of the holy Church, In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

PRIEST: Behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the way of the east;
PEOPLE: And the glory of the Lord filled the house.

Let us pray

O God, who hast filled the world with the radiance of thy glory; Grant that as the light shines through this window in the splendour of many colours, so our lives may show forth the beauty of thy manifold gifts of grace; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Almighty God, we remember this day before thee thy faithful servant, Hugh, and we pray that, having opened to him the gates of larger life, thou wilt receive him more and more into thy joyful service; that he may win, with thee and thy servants everywhere, the eternal victory; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Blessed be thy Name, O Lord, that it hath pleased thee to put into the hearts of thy servants to offer this gift for thy worship. Remember them, O Lord, for good, and grant that all who shall enjoy the befeit of this pious work may show forth their thankfulness to thee by making a right use of the same; through Jesus Christ our Lord. WHAT IS A BOY

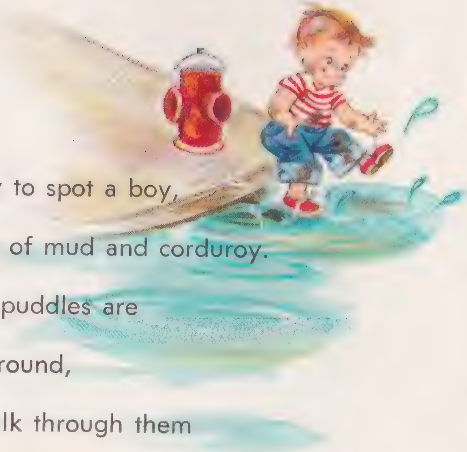
by Ogden Nash



It's pretty easy to spot a boy,
He's a mixture of mud and corduroy.
When splashy puddles are on the ground,
He'd rather walk through them than around.

He likes a shoe with a broken lace,
And he uses a towel to wash
his face.

He knows that walls are made to climb on,
To regain his balance just in time on,
And when nobody's looking, he's often able To smuggle his dog tidbits under the table.

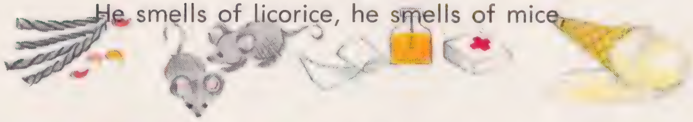
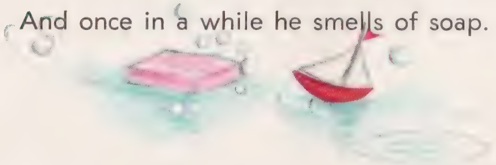
He smells of licorice, he smells of mice,

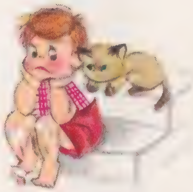


Of mercurochrome, and vanilla ice,

Of footballs, mothballs, rabbits, and rope,
And once in a while he smells of soap.



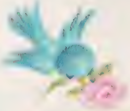
He can make a tent of the living-room rugs,
Which is lit by a bottle full of lightning bugs.
He can carve his name on the front-porch rail,
And spend all morning timing a snail,
He never closes a door behind him,
And you never know quite where you'll find him.
He damages himself in bits and snatches;
His legs are a maze of cuts and scratches;
He confuses his bike with a high trapeze,
Which accounts for scars upon his knees;
He tries to seesaw all alone,
And gets a bruise on his funny bone;
But you needn't think, by any chance,
That he's ready yet for the ambulance;



When the evening sun has left the sky,
He's as healthy as ever and twice as spry.

He is Superman, with the world
in his pocket,
He is riding through space
in a roaring rocket,

He's a will-o'-the-wisp,
he's a small tornado,
He's a marshal cleaning up Laredo,
And when you call,
"Hey, it's time for bed!"
He is somewhere hollering,
"Bang, you're dead!"



So, that is a boy, in a word or two,
Aren't you happy one happened to you?

Congratulations on your
NEW BABY BOY!

May he bring you a world of happiness!

What is a BOY

To welcome the baby boy

and to congratulate the happy parents!

Between the innocence of babyhood and the dignity of manhood we find a delightful creature called a boy. Boys come in assorted sizes, weights, and colors, but all boys have the same creed: to enjoy every second of every minute of every hour of every day, and to protest with noise (their only weapon) when their last minute is finished and the adult males pack them off to bed at  night.

Boys are found everywhere—on top of, underneath, inside of, climbing on, swinging from, running around, or jumping to. Mothers love them, little girls hate them, older sisters and brothers tolerate them, adults ignore them, and Heaven protects them. A boy is Truth with dirt on its face, Beauty with a cut on its finger, Wisdom with bubble gum in its hair, and the Hope of the future with a frog in its pocket. When you are busy, a boy is an inconsiderate, bothersome, intruding jangle of noise. When you want him to make a good impression, his brain turns to jelly or else he becomes a savage, sadistic jungle creature bent on destroying the world and himself with it. A boy is a composite—he has the appetite of a horse, the digestion of a sword swallower, the energy of a pocket-size  atomic bomb, the curiosity of a cat, the lungs of a dictator, the imagination of a Paul Bunyan, the shyness of a violet, the audacity of a steel trap, the enthusiasm of a fire cracker and when he makes something he has five thumbs on each hand. He likes ice cream, knives, saws, Christmas, comic books, the boy across the street, woods, water (in its natural habitat), large animals, trains, Saturday mornings, and fire engines. He is not much for Sunday School, company, schools, books without pictures, music lessons, neckties, barbers, girls, overcoats, adults, or bedtime. Nobody else is so early to rise, or so late to supper. Nobody else gets so much fun out of trees, dogs, and breezes. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a rusty knife, a half-eaten apple, 3 feet of string, 2 gumdrops, 6 cents, a slingshot, a chunk of unknown substance, and a genuine super-sonic code ring with a secret compartment. A boy is a magical creature—you can lock him out of your workshop, but you can't lock him out of your heart. You can get him out of your study, but you can't get him out of your mind. Might as well give up— he is your captor, your jailer, your boss, and your master—a freckled-face, pint-sized, cat-chasing, bundle of noise. But when you come home at night with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, he can mend them like new with the two magic words —

"HI, DAD!"

Congratulations and Welcome to the New Baby

Dear Mother and Father:

Our church rejoices with you in the coming of the newest member of your family circle. No experience brings a keener sense of awe and a feeling of nearness to God like the thrill of receiving from God's hands a child created in His own image.

We join with you in thanking Him for a life given and a life preserved. We pray that your love may overflow into the life of this baby; that the baby may grow strong in body and mind and spirit; and that, as you move forward into the great adventure of parenthood, you may have the assurance of God's unfailing providence and care.

Our sincere desire is that God will richly bless you and the new babe and that you will acknowledge God's gift by a definite dedication of your child to Him.

Sincerely,

First Baptist Church

Magistrates Decline Commissions

Of the 61 aldermen or justices of the peace certified by the Berks County Board of Elections from the November general election, five have not accepted commissions, it was reported this morning by Prothonotary Paul A. Adams.

This therefore creates a vacancy in those respective municipalities, he said, which can be filled by appointments.

Not accepting commissions were the following justices of the peace:

Ray Y. Wagner, Mohrsville, Centre Township; Richard R. Herbst, Shoemakersville R.D. 1; Geraldine M. Leibelsperger, 5020 Leesport Ave., Temple; Lowell Kelly, Douglassville R.D. 1, Union Township, and Charles C. Napier, Boyertown R.D. 1.

Aldermen elected and accepting commissions include George W. Ward, 31 S. 10th St. of the Third Ward; Joseph Miuccio, 228 S. 3rd St., of the Fifth Ward, and Barbara A. Clark, 1528 Mulberry St., of the 17th Ward.

Commissions for both the aldermen and justices of the peace will be available during Christmas week, it was reported by Adams. The prothonotary added that in order to qualify to lift their commissions they must first file a bond in the amount of $1,000 for justices of the peace and $2,000 for aldermen.

Accept Commissions

Justices of the peace accepting commissions were:

Dale A. Hoshauer, Reading R.D. 4, Alsace Township; Paul D. Kolesar, Douglassville, Amity Township; Joseph M. Nichols, 119 Main St., Bally; George A. Reeser, Reading R.D. 2 and Donald H. Latshaw, Leesport R.D. 1, both of Bern Township; Burton S. Berger, Hamburg R.D. 1, Upper Bern Township.

Mrs. Clark Committed To Hospital

Mrs. Marianne Clark, 37-year-old Kenhorst woman found not guilty yesterday by reason of insanity on charges of murdering two of her children, has been placed under strict custody in the Wernersville State Hospital.

After a Berks County court jury announced its decision following 2 hours and 15 minutes of deliberation, President Judge Warren K. Hess termed it "the only proper verdict."

Mrs. Clark was ordered committed to the hospital "for treatment, and to be kept there in strict custody unless otherwise discharged by the court" by Judge Hess.

"It is further ordered that... Mrs. Clark continue in the custody of said hospital, or other appropriate mental institution, so long as . . . (she) shall continue to be of unsound mind, and not to be released except by order of the court," the judge said.

Shot Son, Daughter

Mrs. Clark shot to death her son, John, 15, and daughter Linda, 18, in the family's home at 1536 Fayette Ave. last Oct. 30.

Following the conclusion of the trial, the woman's husband and three surviving children gathered around her. Robert, 17, the oldest son, talked with his mother privately for about 20 minutes.

"I felt so sure that this would be your verdict, that I disobeyed the law by letting you return home each night," Judge Hess told the 12 jurors. "I couldn't see the county spending a couple of thousand dollars to lock up the jury, so I didn't do it."

The cost of Mrs. Clark's hospitalization, as well as the cost of the five-day trial, will be paid by the county. Asst. Dist. Atty. J. Michael Morrissey was the prosecuting attorney and Mark C. McQuillen was Mrs. Clark's lawyer.

University Women Pick Reading For 1968-69 State Convention

Reading has been selected as the site of the 1968-1969 spring convention of the Pennsylvania Division, American Assn. of University Women.

This was announced during the division's annual conclave held Thursday Friday and Saturday at University Park. Delegates representing state branches attended business sessions in the Nittany Lion Inn and the Conference Center on the Penn State University campus.

Afeature of the convention was the installation of a Wyomissing woman as corresponding secretary of the state division. She is Mrs. Robert C. Flowers, 1031 Old Mill Road, wife of a Wyomissing orthodonist and a former president and corresponding secretary of the Reading AAWU branch. She is a study group coordinator for the local branch and is a member of the planning and budget division of the United Community Services of Reading and Berks County. She also serves on the executive board of the Wyomissing Public Library.

Mrs. Harold A. Dunkelberger, another Reading branch member and division president, was in charge of the convention business session. Other local women who attended the conclave were Mrs. Ralph A. Wagner, Reading branch president, and Mrs. Italo L. deFrancesco, Reading branch implementation chairman.

The annual Fellowships Tea, sponsored by the Reading branch, was held Saturday at Medical Hall. Mrs. Thomas H. Leininger, branch fellowships chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Yukiko Furuta.

A native of Tokyo, Japan, Miss Furuta is a recipient of the Marion Reilly Fellowship grant given annually by AAUW. She related her educational experiences as a student at home and in this country. A graduate of the University of Tokyo, she is currently working on her master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania. She plans to return to her homeland and become associated with the oriental department of the Tokyo National Museum.

Miss Furuta is the weekend houseguest of Dr. and Mrs. Leininger of Mohnton. Members of the local branch accompanied her on a tour of Berks County landmarks. She was the guest of honor Saturday night at an informal buffet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hunt Jr., Sinking Spring R.D. 5. The affair was given by members of the branch's fellowships committee and executive board and their husbands.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Clinton D. Getz, director of the Reading Branch. Mrs. Leininger reported that in cooperation with the AAUW fellowships program, the Reading branch has contributed $1500 to the association for fellowship grants in 1968. Recipients of the $1500 are the International Fellowship Fund and the S. Helen Ahrens American Fellowship. The latter fellowship was established in 1963 by the Reading branch in honor of one of its charter members.

It takes an artist to create a liturgical stained glass window. But it also takes a man of great personal faith.

Such a man is Leonids Linauts, of 29 N. Church St., Mohnton, one of the approximately 100 stained glass window artists of the United States. A lecturer, designer and craftsman, Linauts is known worldwide for his quality stained glass art.

Behind his Mohnton home is the artist's studio, where windows have come to life for churches throughout the United States. Linauts personally designs his windows and all the "creative" portions of the art are performed by him.

"I only do original work," Linauts explained during an interview in his study. "I'm an artist," he continued, "not one who copies."

Linauts mentioned that stained glass art has gone through a period when artists "copied" former works done in glass. A native of Latvia, he emphasizes that he does no copying. All his windows are original.

Glass Renaissance

"Stained glass is experiencing a new renaissance in the world," Linauts said. "The art is more than 1,000 years old," he continued, "and is almost everlasting."

Linauts mentioned that the first stained glass windows were developed in Germany and France. In connection with this, he added that the quality hand-blown glass used in the windows is gotten from France, Germany, England and Milton, W. Va.

In speaking about stained glass, Linauts noted that "colored glass makes light beautiful, and glorious." He added that the light can be either natural rays or artificial ones. Many of the modern high-rise buildings, the artist explained, limit the amount of natural light that can seep through.

"The stained blass panel," Linauts continued, "is placed in a wall opening to serve as a window." He stressed that it is not, so to speak, a window, but an art panel constructed to serve the purposes of a window.

The play of the light through the stained glass should, if created well, produce an inspirational feeling in the observer. The message, according to Linauts, is therefore of prime importance.

Meditate and Sketch

"I first meditate about what I want to say," he related. "Then I sketch and put my thoughts on paper."

Linauts stated that the type of building has some control on the message. In addition to churches, he has done stained glass art for libraries, municipal buildings, banks and colleges. All require a different type of message conveyed, he explained.

"About 95 per cent of stained glass art is done for churches," Linauts said. He added that tons of glass are required to create the windows.

A stained glass window, by definition, is a translucent mosaic held together by lead. Linauts emphasized that the lead is not merely a connecting material but should, in good stained glass art, assume a function in the design.

Linauts mentioned that the window's subject matter is the first step in his work. However, the interplay of the vast types of glass and their different textures along with the various colors combine for the end result.

"There are 3,600 different shades of glass," Linauts said.

Texture Differs

The artist further explained the difference between glass from England and that from France, Germany or the United States is a difference in texture. The colors, he added, do not vary. The texture of the hand-blown glass is what varies, he repeated.

"Therefore great time is taken to select the correct glass to produce the best result when the light hits the window," he said.

Linauts' studio has two floors. A small office is located at the entrance and this is followed by the glass "stock room," so to speak, where the glass is cut. On the second floor is the artists' studio where the "creative" work is performed. A small room behind the studio houses the kiln.

"After I have the sketch and it is approved and the commission received," Linauts said, "I proceed to draw the panel in full size. The window is the final stage."

"After I have the sketch and it is approved and the commission received," Linauts said, "I proceed to draw the panel in full size. The window is the final stage."

The artist explained that the entire process takes several months. He noted that the cost can vary from $50 to $200 per square foot depending on the degree of intricate workmanship desired.

Many in Berks

To name the churches just within Berks County that contain Linauts' stained glass art would be a massive task. The artist often in talking will refer to local congregations and quite matter-of-factly state that the windows were of his creation. He has done windows for congregations as far west as San Francisco.

"My largest window is 46 by 18 feet," Linauts remarked. He added that this was created for the First Presbyterian Church in Allentown. He noted that among his many "favorites" are the windows in the Alleghenyville Union Church and the work of his that appears in the art gallery of Lock Haven State College.

The artist's extreme pride in his native land is evident throughout his home, where articles and customs of Latvia are used continuously. It is evident that it is the home of a "creative" person.

Linauts and his wife, the former Dainauvita Pelodons, daughter of a Latvian poet, came to this country over 18 years ago as displaced persons under the sponsorship of a Philadelphia Quaker family.

Educated in Latvia

The artist was educated at the Fine Arts Academy of Riga, Latvia, and studied portrait painting and mural painting there. Later, he spent seven years studying eccleciastical art and specializing in stained glass. Linauts added that at one time he and two other stained glass artists from Latvia were serving the entire northern European market.

When he first arrived in America, Linauts worked as an artist for a photographic firm in Philadelphia and later came to Reading to work for the J. M. Kase glass firm. In 1953 he opened his studio in Mohnton.

Tht Linauts have eight children. In addition, Mrs. Linauts' mother resides with the family.

The newly furnished main lobby of the Centre County Hospital was made possible by donations from people throughout the County and from non-resident friends, to the Memorial Fund of The Hospital.

Mrs. Hugh Quigley and Mrs. John Weixel, co-chairmen, explained today that the donations from individual auxiliaries go to the Council of Auxiliaries to be administered.

When it became no longer necessary for the fund to be used for the payment of drugs for needy patients, council decided to "freshen up" parts of the lobby, they added.

A committee was appointed, including Mrs. Richard D. Ulrich, Mrs. H. G. Thomas, Mrs. J. Reed Babcock and Mrs. W. E. Kelworth, chairman, and, after visiting other hospitals and seeking advice from those in the field of commercial interior design, the selection of furnishings was made.

The Hospital administration painted the lobby and enclosed the switch board, and furniture, rugs, lamps and ash trays were purchased from Jack Wilkinson, on a competitive bid basis.

Some of the earned income received by council is used for landscaping of the Hospital grounds, including flowers, grass and shrubbery, and volunteers assist in keeping it cut and trimmed.

With the new furniture and a divider between the lobby and offices, there was a need for paintings on this blank partition and another committee was formed to obtain works of local artists.

With Mrs. Quigley as chairman of this project, paintings, which are changed from time to time, have been exhibited there by Dick Brown, Hugh L. Curtin, Nancy Anderson, Edna Kilpatrick, Elinor McDowell, Jean Osborne, Kitty Roseberry, Ina Moyer, Ruth Lamm, Leonard Doggett, Doris Gustafson, Betty Miller, Nora Quigley and Billy Mills.

Carpenter Steel Adds 2 More Scholarships

RICHARD A. CLOUSER

ROBERT W. CLARK

Two Reading area youths have been added to the list of scholarship recipients by the Carpenter Steel Co., according to John S. Kline, director of general services of the company.

Robert W. Clark, 1536 Fayette Ave., Kenhorst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Clark Jr., was selected to receive the award by Albright College, where he will enroll as a chemistry major in September.

While at Gov. Mifflin High School, from which he was graduated recently, Clark was a member of the National Honor Society, the marching and cadet bands, and he is currently president of the Mifflin area Teen-Age Republicans.

A Muhlenberg Township High School graduate, Richard A. Clouser, was notified of his scholarship by Lehigh University where he will study engineering. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clouser, 771 Acacia Ave., Riverview Park, Richard was a member of the National Honor Society, the wrestling team, and the hall patrol.

He was previously honored by his selection to "Who's Who Among American High School Seniors."

It's bright, cheery and warm in the main lobby of the Centre County Hospital these days, in spite of the many illnesses within the walls of the institution and the chilly temperatures outside.

And all because of the foresight of three County women, representing the Centre County Council of Hospital Auxiliaries.

The pleasant atmosphere, made possible just for the enjoyment of patients and guests at The Hospital, comes from colorful paintings and spring and summer flowers on the wall.

Hung by Mrs. Hugh Quigley and Mrs. John Miller, both of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Stanley N. Roseberry of State College, the paintings are the sixth group to be hung by the Auxiliary committee since the lobby was repainted, and then refurnished, by the County Council in 1967.

"It's all for pleasure," Mrs. Quigley, chairman, said today. "We find that not only visitors to The Hospital are enjoying the exhibits as they change about every six weeks, but the doctors, nurses, Hospital employes and the ambulatory patients take time to view the artistic work of County artists."

She said that plans are to use the work of each and every artist and would-be artist in the area and persons interested in displaying their hand-work contact her and it will be considered by the committee for a future exhibit.

During the past months, the hangings have varied from oil paintings and photographs to posters by elementary pupils on the Children's Fair.

The work has featured local scenes, still life, portraits, flowers, fruits and scenes of other countries.

Maybe our next one will be of animals, Mrs. Quigley said, adding that "perhaps we can also have top works by art students in the four area high schools."

The current hangings in the lobby, all of flowers, include two pastels by Ella Ishler of Bellefonte; four oil paintings by Kitty Roseberry of State College, and one each by Betty Miller, Ella Ishler, Bonnie Snyder and Joyce Willar, all of the Bellefonte area.

Other local artists have included:

Bud Curtin of Curtin; Nancy Anderson, Edna Kilpatrick Barger, Elinor McDowell, Billy Mills, Doris Gustafson, Betty Miller, Nora Quigley, all of Bellefonte; Jean Osborne, Kitty Roseberry, Ina Moyer, Ruth Lamm, L. A. Doggett, State College

Dick Brown, staff photographer for the Centre Daily Times, had an exhibit of some of his prize winning photos, after which elementary pupils displayed their posters advertising the annual Children's Fair, sponsored by the Bellefonte Hospital Auxiliary.

Another exhibit featured the work of Dr. Jane M. Strickland, Jean Smith and Doris Stanford, nurses; Pat Manley, nurses aide; and Helen Covey, Caroline Weixel and Carol Pilgram, wives of doctors.

The following pictures were all by members of the Valentine family of Bellefonte, after which the work of Stuart Frost of State College, enhanced the display wall of the institution.

During the Christmas season, Santa Claus was shown loud and clear on the wall, after which the colorful arrangements of flowers were hung.

Ann Eberman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Eberman, 855 N. Park Road, Wyomissing, received a bachelor of arts degree at the commencement of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va. She was a history major and president of the history society.

City Man Arrested In Theft

A Reading man was arrested Thursday night in connection with a burglary at the Weis Market, Sinking Spring, where cigarettes worth several hundred dollars were stolen last weekend, police disclosed.

Vincent Santarelli, Greenwich street near 4th, posted $1,500 bail at his preliminary arraignment before Justice of the Peace Hugh M. Quigley, Sinking Spring, on charges of burglarly, larceny and receiving stolen goods, investigators said. No hearing date was set.

Borough Police Chief Jack K. Brady reported that the market, located along the Shillington-Sinking Spring road, was entered early last Saturday and the cigarettes were taken from the bulk supply sector, located at the front of the store and behind the shelves accessible to customers.

An intensive probe led to a Muhlenberg Township garage where 179 cartons of the stolen "smokes" were recovered on Tuesday, Brady went on. He said the merchandise was traced to Santarelli and the suspect surendered at Quigley's office accompanied by his attorney, Calvin Lieberman.

An inventory prepared by market personnel indicated additional cigarettes are missing, Brady reported, and the intensive probe is continuing. State police are assisting the chief. Suspect Is Freed From Custody After Witness Declines to Testify

Judge Frederick Edenharter, at noon today in the Berks County court, granted the habeas corpus petition of Vincent Santarelli of Greenwich street near 4th, after a commonwealth witness pleaded the 5th Amendment and refused to answer questions on the witness stand.

In granting the petition, the jurist said that the defendant is discharged from custody but this does not prevent the comonwealth from pursuing its case.

Santarelli, co-operator of the In-Town Motor Lodge, 1635 Centre Ave., was bound over for grand jury action Feb. 11 by Justice of the Peace Hugh M. Quigley, Sinking Spring, on charges stemming from a Jan. 11 burglary at the Weis Market in that community. He was charged with burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

The witness for the commonwealth, Anthony Vaccaro, self-employed garage operator, of 3130 Kutztown Road, refused to answer any questions asked by Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael J. Morrissey, on the grounds that the answers may incriminate him.

At that point, Atty. Clement J. Cassidy, representing the witness, advised the court that Vaccaro is presently under bail on charges in connection with the crime, and that no preliminry hearing has no preliminary hearing has Morrissey asked the witness if he knew or talked to the defendant on Jan. 11, 12, 13 and 14, and whether he knew anything about 179 cases of cigaretts in his (Vaccaro's) possession.

After Vaccaro refused to answer the questions, Morrissey rested his case for the commonwealth. Judge Edenharter then commented, "I don't feel the commonwealth has established a prima facie case."

Santarelli's defense counsel, Atty. Fred I. Noch, then asked the jurist to dismiss the charges against his client rather than just releasing him from custody. Judge Edenharter refused to do so at that time.

Noch also told the court that there was no evidence presented at the alderman's hearing to connect Santarelli with the offense.

Hearing Date Fixed

Judge Frederic Edenharter today set April 9 for a hearing on the petition of Anthony Vaccaro, who has asked the court to suppress evidence seized during a search of his garage-business place, 3130 Kutztown Road, Hyde Park.

Police charge Vaccaro with allegedly being involved in the theft of 179 cartons of cigarettes from a Sinking Spring supermarket Jan. 11, claiming they found the cigarettes in his garage.

The petitioner, represented by Atty. Clement J. Cassidy, claims he was arrested after a search of his garage and that the search was illegal because it was made without a warrant. Also, he contends the search was made in his absence and without his consent.

Vaccaro charges police used "implied coercion and trickery" on an employee during the search which he contends is a violation of his constitutional rights.

For You in Your NEW HOME

Every house where love abides
And friendship is a guest,
Is surely home, and home sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.

Schuylkill River Floods Vast Area Along Banks

Swamped riverfront areas of Reading and West Reading are shown in this aerial photo, taken from over West Reading and looking eastward across the Schuylkill River toward the city. Eagle Staff Photographer James R. Cutler snapped this view of the disastrous flooding while riding in a plane piloted by Sgt. Robert Zoffell of the Reading unit of the Civil Air Patrol. At left-center, the Penn Street Bridge crosses a raging and swollen river. The inundated Riverfront industrial renewal area is at center on the Reading side of the river.

BASHED AND BATTERED—A bashed and battered section of the Cross Keys Bridge lies on its side on the embankment of the Schuylkill River after raging flood waters tore the bridge from its piers Friday. The remainder of the bridge washed downstream until it became hung up in mid-stream.

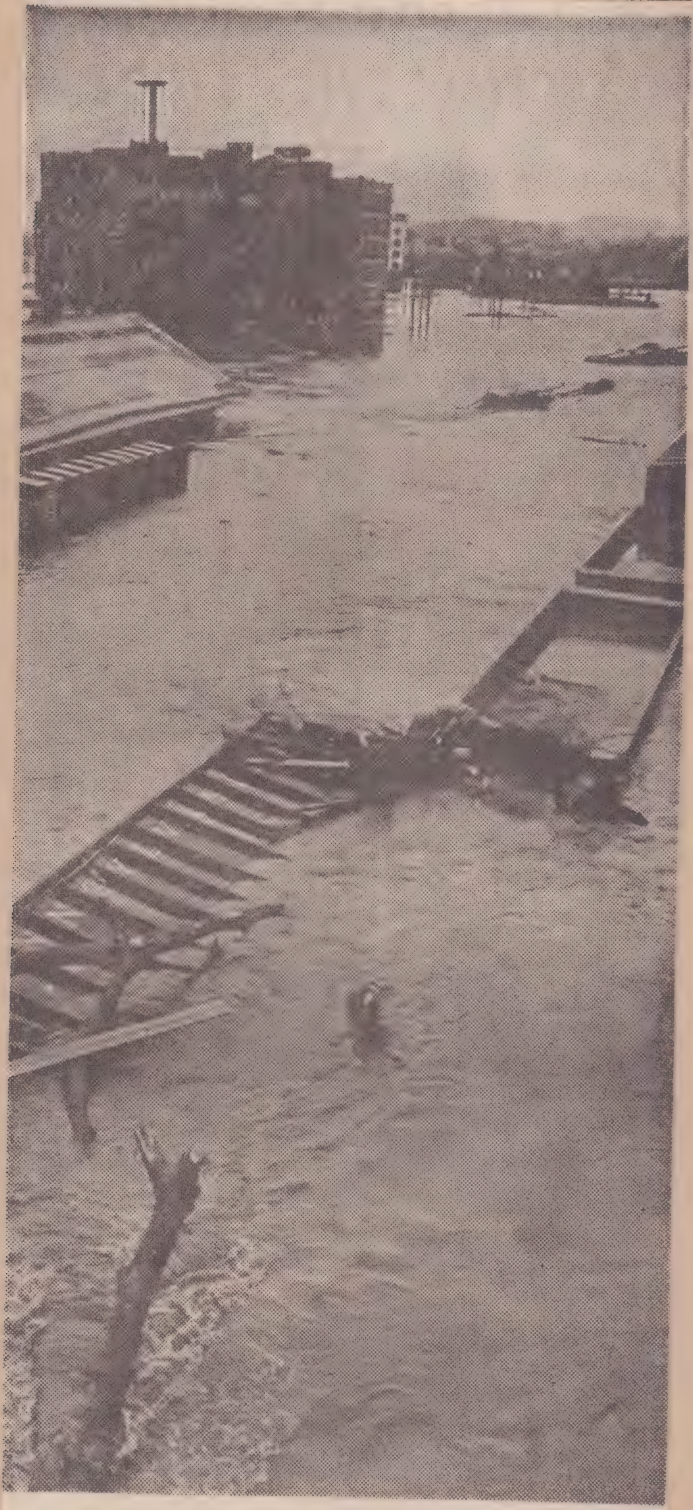
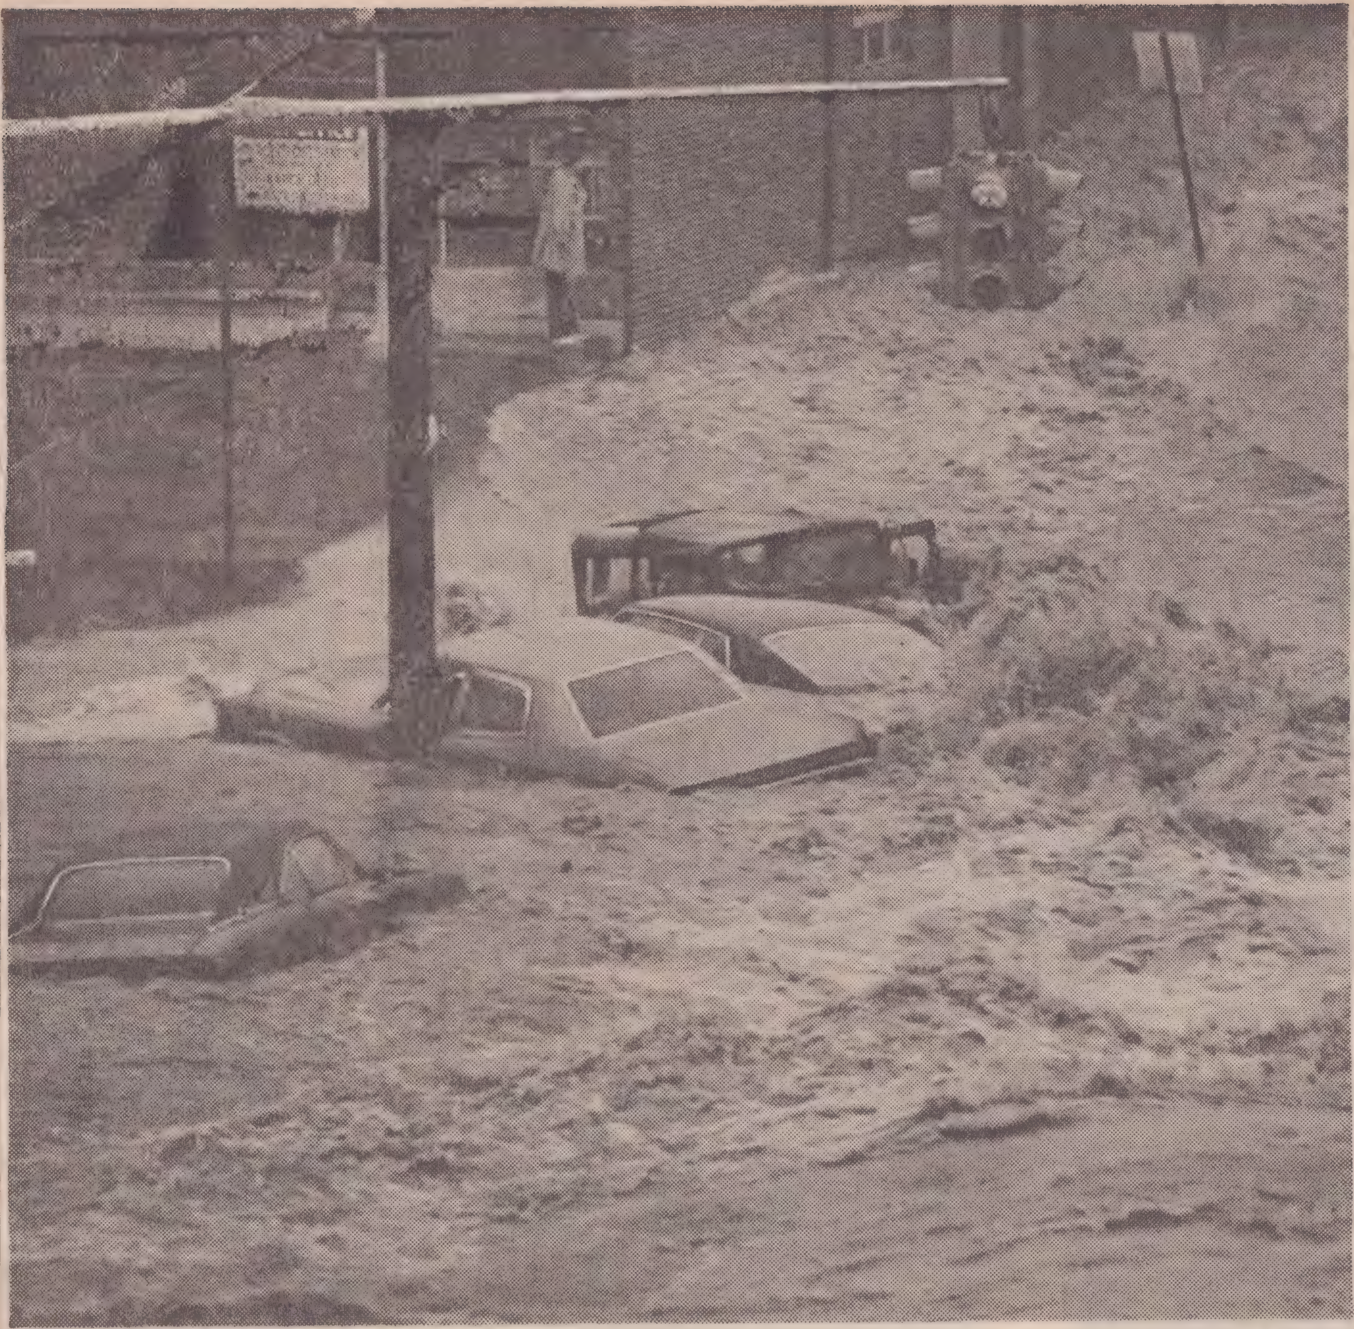
Bridge Kit?

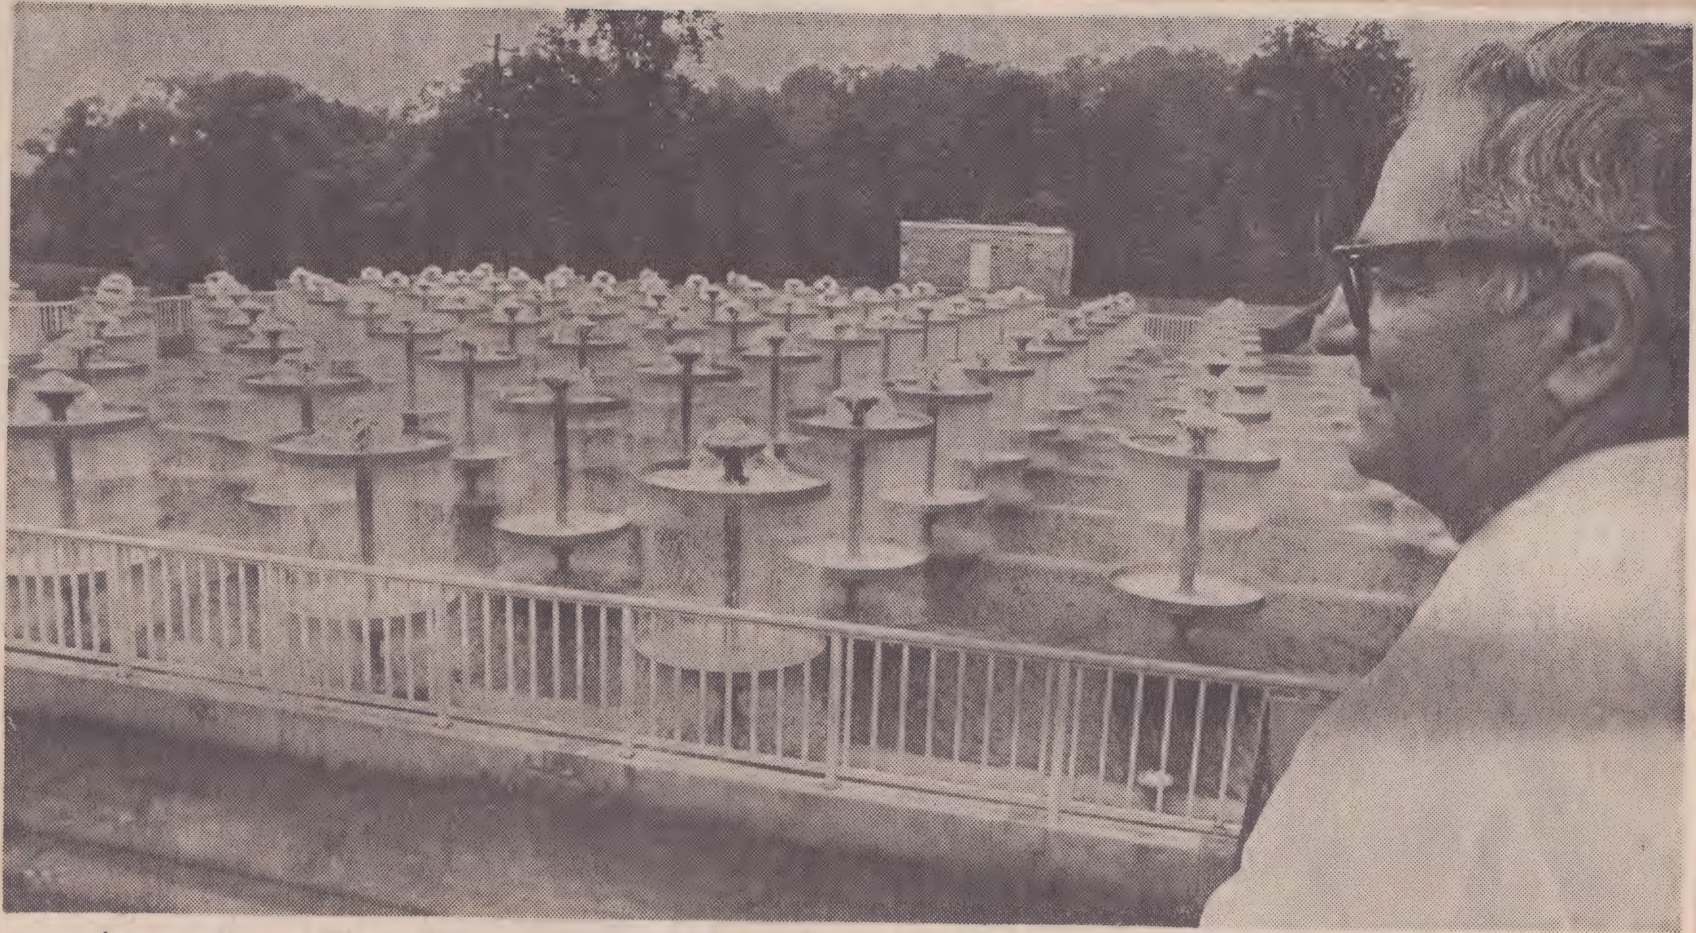
This isn't part of an Erector Set left behind by the kids, it's what is left of the Gibraltar Bridge which carries Legislative Route 06152 from Route 422 over the Schuylkill River to Gibraltar. A bulldozer and an air compressor which were on the bridge are believed to have been lost when the span surrendered to the flood waters. The bridge, built in 1893, had been closed for deck repairs. — Photo by Walter A. Romanski, chief Eagle staff photographer.



This is the devastating scene of Front street looking south from the Penn Street Bridge.



The post office annex on 5th street, near George Field, became a devastating scene as a rushing torrent originating at Bernhart's Reservoir tore through Northmont and joined the surging Schuylkill River at Hiester's Lane.



Aerating City Water Makes Pretty Picture

The prettiest picture in the Reading area today was produced by these little fountains that aerate water at the Maidencreek Filter Plant of the city water system, at Berkley. The filter plant was feeding pure, but heavily chlorinated water, to pumps which pushed it into the city's mains along the Pottsville Pike. Looking on is Vincent Ferrara, superintendent—Eagle Photo.
